Proposition 65 Notice

California Proposition 65, known as the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, requires customer notification of products manufactured after August 31, 2018, which contain chemicals known to cause cancer, birth defects, or other reproductive harm. As a distributor of electronic components, mechanical components, supplies, and equipment, AutomationDirect does not design, manufacture, or control the content of any of the products that we sell. We do not have detailed chemical content information and rely upon our manufacturing partners to advise us if the products require a Proposition 65 warning.

Electronic components, electronic products, or production supplies in general may include some level of substances identified by Proposition 65. However, to the best of our knowledge, the products we sell do not contain the above referenced substances in levels above the Safe Harbor levels, which include No Significant Risk Levels (NSRLs) for cancer-causing chemicals and Maximum Allowable Dose Levels (MADLs) for chemicals causing reproductive toxicity. If we discover that a product does require a Proposition 65 warning, the warning will appear on the product page prior to your point of purchase.

If you need specific information regarding the content of any substances that are identified by Prop 65 and their inclusion in a particular product, please contact the manufacturer directly.
